

Vision PowerPack for IBM DS3000 Series Storage Systems

Scalable and Cost-Effective Protection

The IBM System Storage™ DS3000 series of storage systems provides advanced storage consolidation functionality to small business and enterprise departments or remote offices. The PowerPack for IBM DS3000 series storage is a special offer for DS3000 series customers to purchase host-based IP replication for scalable and affordable protection of their DS3000 series storage.

The Advantages of Host-Based Replication

Double-Take® host-based IP replication is the industry recognized leader in efficient host-based replication. It allows companies to protect both the host accessing the DS3000 series storage system and the data stored on it, with real-time data replication.

Real-time disk-to-disk protection

- Protect continuously with no backup windows
- Efficient byte-level replication sends less data than block-based storage replication
- Bandwidth limiting and scheduling ensure bandwidth is used effectively

Easy to deploy and manage

- Simple, task based interface
- Enterprise management displays all replication jobs
- Select entire volumes or single files for protection.

Solve key business challenges

- Operational recovery of single files from any point in time
- Recovery from site outage
- Consolidation of data from multiple sites/servers to a single location for backup

Breakthrough Price, and Performance to Match

This special offer for IBM DS3000 series customer includes one repository license and agent licenses to protect up to 5 hosts attached to the storage system, for the breakthrough price of $795, including one year maintenance. This offer is only available to IBM DS3000 series customers. Contact your authorized IBM reseller and ask to evaluate or order the Double-Take host-based replication offer for the DS3000.
