Information. It's the foundation on which you build your business. Ultimately, it is among the most mission-critical resources in your organization, for every analysis, every decision, and every action. Keeping information available is essential, but finding the right company with a long history of proven, reliable technologies that are easy to understand, install and maintain is the challenge. And Vision Solutions, IBM, and Microsoft meet that challenge.

High availability becomes more critical as small and medium businesses consolidate physical servers into a virtual server infrastructure. With Vision Double-Take Availability, IBM System x servers and Microsoft Windows Server 2008 R2 with Hyper-V, you can leverage the industry expertise of Vision, IBM and Microsoft to implement an "in-the-box" solution for highly available virtualization.

With the addition of Double-Take for Hyper-V, this extends the platform provided by Microsoft Windows 2008 Hyper-V on System x to provide numerous options for protection and recoverability of your virtual machine environment. Double-Take for Hyper-V provides real-time data and system state protection that reduce the total cost of ownership for high availability, disaster recovery and remote office recoverability projects. Double-Take for Hyper-V integrates into your existing server and storage infrastructure to provide these recoverability solutions, allowing your IT staff to spend more time solving business problems instead of struggling to overcome technical limitations all at an affordable price point.

And with the option of the Vision Availability Appliance Powered by IBM, you can now get access to the software and hardware you need in one package. Your Double-Take Availability and Microsoft Windows software will be pre-installed on one of the IBM System x configurations of your choice by experts at Arrow OCS and shipped to you as one unit.

The Vision Availability Appliance includes Industry leading software pre-installed by Experts at Arrow OCS. Multiple configurations are available depending on your level of protection needed including:
